SMELTER BOYS BEAT FARMERS

Support is Weird.

LAST OF THE P. N. L. STILL DE- CASTLETON HOLDS OUT FOR FULL NINE INNINGS.

> The Smelter City baseball team took the Farmers from Logan down the line yesterday at Murray by a score of 10 to 8. Stoney's bunch started off like a crowd of National Leaguers, and for the first three innings Hughey's team did not get a man past first base. In the fourth Eddie Hahn booted the first ball that came his way, and a minute later threw his second chance past the third baseman into the crowd, which resulted in two runs for the Murrays. Up to this time the smelter stickers had not got a single hit off Galgano. In the fifth, with two out, after two smelter men had got life on a couple of errors, "Dad" Stewart got the first hit of the day for his team, which was followed by a two-bagger by Seare. This was the undoing of Galgano, and in the next inning he was touched up for five safe ones, which resulted in five runs for Murray, a lead which was never the fourth Eddie Hahn booted the first for Murray, a lead which was never Castleton was on the rubber for Murray and he pitched good, steady ball throughout. His support was somewhat weird, and allowed two runs for the Farmers in the first. Castleton got his worst bumps in the third when a single, three-bagger and two-bagger, together with an error, gave the visitors three runs. Logan could not find him for any more damage until the eighth. Then a two-bagger by Galgano and a single by Christensen brought in two runs.

Tommy Leahy and Toren were in the Tommy Leahy and Toren were in the Farmers' line-up. Toren doing good work running the bases, while Leahy, as usual, was there at backstop. The wind blew a steady gale across the diamond, which was somewhat responsible for the many errors made.

Ten-Inning Game is One of the Best Ever Played in Snake Valley.

Sugar City, Ida., July 1.-Rexburg's baseball team won from Sugar City yesterday on the former's grounds in B Street Court Captures First Honors one of the fastest games ever witnessed in the Snake River valley. It nessed in the Snake River valley. It took ten innings to land the winning run. The visitors were not at all satisfied with the decisions of Umpire Griggs, and it required great persuasion to get them to finish the game. The wrangle started in the eighth, a result of the tactics employed by the Heussers of the locals, and who seemed to have the unpire under their influ to have the umpire under their influ-ence. The score was 2 to 1. Batteries—Rexburg. Heusser and Heusser; Sugar City, Therriott and

C. Kaysville, July 1.—The Brigham City baseball team met defeat on the Kaysville diamond this afternoon in a game with the local nine, the score being 6 was witnessed by a large crowd. The visitors scored one in the first inning, which the Kaysvilles duplicated in the second. Then the Brigham boys scored twice in the third, having become familiar with Green's work in the box. Day was put in Green's place after the third, and his stepping into the box ended chances for the visitors. The Kaysville team gradually piled up six runs.

Wessers, Raymond and Smith, representing the East Side club, the latter team receiving a handicap of 15.

The match started briskly in the Roberts fravor. They took the first three games of the set without a struggle, but as the set proceeded all players warmed to their task and some of the snappiest work ever seen in Salt Lake took place. The Roberts finally took the first set at 6-4.

In the second set, Raymond and Smith his dash—and took it by a score of 6-2. The third and final set started amidst freat enthusiasm, Raymond and Smith taking the first two games and it looked to all as if they would win the match. But the Roberts steadied down in their critical position, Frank never once missing his smashes at the net, and they took the next six games, which gave them the set and the (Special to The Herald.)

OUTLOOK POOR FOR BASEBALL

Salt Lake s Chances for High Class Manager W. S. Jones Announces Article Are Slim.

What is Salt Lake to do for baseball? This is a question that is puzzling the fans of this city, and the more one studies the situation the more gloomy the all of which are named races, the there

Substantial League Needed.

Substantial League Needed.

Many theories are advanced by well-meaning fans for the promotion of high-class baseball in Salt Lake, but the one and only drawback is a league. By this is meant a combination of cities that can support the national game as well as Salt Lake would, a league that can go through season after season without losing thousands of dollars to those who are backing the teams. When this problem can be solved Salt Lake will have the kind of baseball it deserves, and it will not until such a combination is formed.

Take a map and study it, and one can readily see that there is not a city large enough to support a minor league baseball team within a radius of 600 miles of Salt Lake. Then there is another long jump before other towns can be secured to make up such a league. This is the problem that confronts Salt Lake, and probably will for years to come.

If it were possible for Salt Lake to secure a franchise in such a league, it would then need a baseball man to take charge of its team and run it the same as a person would any other business. This thing of having a board of directors running a ball club, men who are in other lines of business and devote their spare time to the game, will not do. It has a tried time and time again, and failure has marked every attempt. Too many cooks spoil the broth, and this is just what is the matter with Salt Lake's baseball teams in the past. This town needs a professional baseball man at the head of its team, one who will run it for the money there is in the business, and if this person ever shows up and gives Salt Lake a winning team, he will have a mint.

STANDING OF BIKE RIDERS

Hopper Still in the Lead—Iver Lawson Slowly Climbing to the Top.

Iver Lawson crawled into third position in the standing of the bike riders during the past week and is now but fifteen points behind N. C. Hopper, who has hung onto first place ever since the season opened. Downing is also crawling up the list due to his wins in the handicap races. Among the amateurs, Wilcox has increased his lead and Jack Hume has strengthened his position in second place. The complete standing of the riders up to date as complied by Manager Harry W. Heagren, is as follows:

"Angels." Hold Up P. N. L.

Much has been said about the defunct Pacific National league, what was done, what could be done and what should have been dead of putting up their money, it was all off with baseball. A league must be made self-supporting to last, and the league as formed this season was not, nor could it possibly be made so.

Figures at hand show that Salt Lake City drew more money than any of the town. In the circuit, despite the boasted attendance of Spokane. Salt Lake's team should have been self-supporting if the team could have been self-supporting if th

Denver-'Frisco Combination.

The future may develop a league in which Salt Lake can place a team, but at the present such a circuit is mere conjecture, and it will take a master hand in baseball to gut it into shape. The league in question is a combination of the Western and Pacific Coast leagues, but before this could be accomplished Hank Harris, the controlling spirit in the coast baseball, and George Tebeau, the guiding hand of the Western, would have to get together and agree upon it. Before Tebeau would come in, Harris would have to cut out that 40 per cent racket for ground rent in San Francisco. The coast towns have been fighting this proposition for years, but Harris is still obdurate and will be as long as he can.

The Western league as it now stands is a dismal failure. Denver has been dissatisfied ever since the American association took Kansas City away from the league, and would gladly come west, but if the Colorado metropolis has organized baseball. George Tebeau must first consent. Morley of Los Angeles favors such a league as outlined above, but Morley is nowerless to act without Harris.

If it were possible to get Harris and Tebeau together a league comprising San Francisco. Oakland, Los Angeles, Salt Lake, Denver and Pueblo, or Colorado Springs, would be a possibility, and the best league that could be gotten together so fas as Salt Lake is concerned. This is the natural league for the intermountain country, and will come some day, but probably not before the Moffat railroad is completed from Salt Lake to Denver.

LEAGUE THAT CAN LIVE IS RUNNERS HAVE ONE FACE, A FIVE-EIGHTH MILT DASH.

Manager W. S. Jones of the Pair dies the situation the more gloomy the outlook becomes. The death of the Pacific National league killed professional baseball in this city for this year, and it is possible for some time to come. For nearly three years Salt Lake, through the aid of its "Angels," has had a high-class article of the national game, but the limit has been reached and no one can say where and when this town will again have ball games of the class the fans of this city demand and to which they are entitled.

Substantial League Needed.

amo each norse has a certain following among the local horsemen who are familiar with their marks.
